1. Pedigree Structural Data

- Tester 1 (Anchor): Kevin Charles Lajiness
- Tester 5 (Parallel Match): Maijel Chisolm (11th Cousin)
- Tester 7 (New Match Anchor): T.P. (11th Cousin, 1x Removed)
- Core Core Node Intersect: William John Milton Chisolm (1798–1851) & Weldon Chisolm (1823–1893)

2. Genealogical Significance & Branch Validation

The introduction of tester T.P.'s pedigree provides the ultimate parallel control for our southern Revolutionary Chisholm branch. While Maijel Chisolm's lineage validated the descent through Leonard Marbury Gennard Chisolm, T.P.'s tree tracks an independent path through his brother, Weldon Chisolm (1823–1893).

The convergence of two distinct modern testers on the household of William John Milton Chisolm (1798–1851) structurally isolates this family branch. This proves that the deep genetic markers inherited from the transatlantic Fraser-Munro-Cuthbert node were cleanly distributed through multiple sons of the early Georgia and frontier Chisholm pioneers, providing an unshakeable layer of paper-trail verification to back up our molecular data.
